60 Thomas Jefferson Elementary School children visited the Levittown Public Library yesterday. While they enjoyed the children's section, Edward Orth, Sandra James, Christine Becker and Johanna Snyder of the first grade discover something delightful in one of the many large reference books. The Library, located in the basement of the Towne Pharmacy at Five Points is open every day and evening during Open House Week in conjunction with the Building Fund Drive to take place on the night of March 27. Residents are requested to leave entry lights on as a welcome to their neighbors who are making the solicitation.

Rackets Probe Seizes Records Of Teamster Boss

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Labor Rackets Committee today subpoenaed all personal records of West Coast Teamster boss Frank W. Brewster. Brewster agreed to furnish them.

Good Evening!

Beck bows to ultimatum.

The Teamsters union driver will appear "voluntarily" before the Senate racket investigators next Tuesday and it should be an extremely interesting meeting.

Sign of the times: Responsible union leaders of the country are welcoming this Senate investigation and are cooperating with it.

Ten years ago the Senate wouldn't have had the courage to pursue such an inquiry and if it should have had, every labor leader in the land would have been hollering treason.

Okay, second day of spring.

This time last week it felt more like it did then than it does now—the weather. Something in reverse like the gal who, after her first cocktail, jabbered: "I feel more like I do now than I did before."

We dunno. Maybe spring fever.

Anyhow, the fog of confusion down Bensalem way seems to be clearing up a little as that meeting last night where better government was lengthily discussed would indicate.

Nothing the matter at all with the Bensalem township situation a generous quantity of sensitivity to the interests of the people wouldn't quickly cure.

Mrs. Wilson, who popped off at Mr. Eisenhower over a presidential criticism of her defense secretary husband, says she isn't mad at anybody any more.

You know, with the weatherman promising azure skies late today and tomorrow and with li-lacs already for glory, we're feeling precisely the same way.

It's amazing what a little change can do for your appearance. Grandma got an Italian bob. Now she doesn't look like an old lady any more. She looks like an old man.

A southpaw is the fellow who rears his family before the Mason-Dixon line.

FRANK W. BREWSTER

But Teamster President Dave Beck passed up a chance to tell the committee whether he will hand over his personal financial records next Tuesday.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said he received a new telegram from Beck, but "the reservations are still there" on whether Beck would surrender his records or invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to give them up.

McClellan handed Brewster a subpoena as the gray-haired Western Teamster czar sat in the witness chair.

Brewster conferred with his lawyers and one of them, John K. Pickens, said, "we will give you all you ask for."

2nd Concert

Is Tomorrow

The Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will present the second concert of the fourth series at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Neshaminy High School, Langhorne.

Dr. B. Stimson Carrow, professor and organist at Temple University, will be soloist in the orchestra's presentation of Handel's "Organ Concerto No. 10."

Dr. Carrow is substitute soloist, replacing Concert Mistress Florence Rosensweig, who is ill.

Tomorrow's program will feature the string sections of the orchestra in Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 3."

The orchestra will also perform Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 6 (Pathétique)."

The orchestra is under the direction of nationally-known conductor, Henry Kerr Williams.

Warehouse To Process Tomatoes

Bristol Building New Acquisition Of Packing Co.

The 7,000-square-foot warehouse in Bristol recently purchased by the Delaware Valley Packing Co. from the A. B. Murray Co. will be used to process and package large Green Wrap tomatoes, Charles T. Hornby, secretary of the packing firm announced today.

"The new operation will result in an extended season for our company as well as an additional market for the tomato crop of Bucks and nearby counties," Mr. Hornby said. "The Green Wrap firm considers the tomatoes from these areas superior to many others."

Purchased for $37,500, the building was part of the National U. S. Radiator Corp. plant on Green Lane, which Murray purchased last year for $500,000.

A large tomato grader will be installed in the warehouse, where the crop will be graded, washed and waxed before packing in 60-pound boxes. The crates will be shipped south, and will eventually find their way to retail grocery stores.

The packing firm also contemplates installing refrigerating equipment in the new quarters, to store some of the graded tomatoes for distribution to local stores, Mr. Hornby said.

250 Bensalem Residents Voice

Favor Of Township Manager

By KAY BLINCOE

More than 250 Bensalem residents indicated last night they would like to see a township manager form of government.

A straw vote taken last night at a public meeting of the board of supervisors saw some 250 persons stand up favoring township manager form of government. No opposition to the proposal was recorded. Some 15 persons indicated they were undecided on the issue.

The action, at Bensalem's high school, came during a forum discussion on a series of sweeping proposals for "good government."

Legislature Gets Request From County

Development Group Says School Would Help Industry

State legislators representing Bucks County have been called upon to introduce legislation establishing a commonwealth supported liberal arts and science college, it was disclosed today by the Bucks County Development Committee.

Herbert Barnes, chairman of the development group's sub-committee on higher education, today released a letter that was sent to Senator Edward B. Watson and Assemblymen Marvin V. Keller, Mrs. Margaret S. Kooker and A. Patrick Brennan.

In his letter, Barnes said that with the exception of the highly specialized National Agricultural College, there is no institution of higher learning in Bucks County.

It is necessary, he said, to assure industry wishing to locate plants in Bucks that they will be assured a continued flow of trained and properly educated personnel. The Development Committee works to attract new business to Bucks.

Not Opposed

Noting that legislation has been introduced in Harrisburg calling for a free city college in Philadelphia, Barnes wrote that his committee has no quarrel with the proposal.

"However, we do feel the educational need in Bucks County is much more critical and Bucks County in comparison with neighbors, has not received an equitable share of state funds for higher education," Barnes stated in his letter.

The education chairman pointed out that many counties neighboring Bucks have state supported schools.

"To the north of us, Monroe County has East Stroudsburg State Teachers College; to the west, Berks has Kutztown Teachers, Chester has West Chester State Teachers, Delaware has Cheney State Teachers and to the south of us, Philadelphia County has the following educational institutions receiving state grants: "University of Pennsylvania,"

Half The Battle Is Won

One-Horse Bucks Bridge To Be Replaced In Summer

(Third In A Series)

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times
Staff Writer

Half the battle against Lower Bucks County's notorious twin, one-horse, one-lane bridges is won—and complete victory is in sight.

The narrow accident-scared bridge which carries Bristol-Oxford Valley Road over Queen Anne's Creek will be replaced this summer as part of the state Highway Department's $2,000,000 rebuilding program.

The replacement bridge, expected to be completed late this summer, will be a full two lanes wide. It will also have a 40-foot span to bridge the flood plane of the creek.

This will cost an estimated $50,000.

New approaches to the bridge will eliminate the treacherous "S" curve which now cuts visibility to a minimum.

Plague Motorists

The Bristol-Oxford Valley Road bridge and its nearby companion on Newportville Road, have plagued motorists for years.

During peak traffic hours, the narrow bridges act as bottle necks. Cars are forced to line up on both sides and take turns crossing.

In announcing the plans during a special interview with the Courier and Times, S. Curtis Weikert, acting chief district engineer, said the state could fix only one bridge at a time.

But he said the bridge on Newportville Road will probably be replaced in 1958.

Traffic to the western section of Levittown would be cut off, if both bridges were replaced at the same time, he said. Under present plans motorists can detour through the Indian Creek section while either bridge is being rebuilt.

'Priority System'

Along the same lines, Weikert reported there are no plans to pave dirt-surfaced Bristol-Oxford Valley Road between Newportville Road and Trenton Road.

"We can only stretch our money so far," he said in way of explanation. He added that a "priority system" was used in deciding which projects would be undertaken first.

Levitt Sees His Industry As Dying

Tells Senate Group Positive Action Needed Immediately

WASHINGTON (UP)—William J. Levitt, head of a Pennsylvania home building firm, said today the homebuilding industry is "dying... for want of money and for want of credit."

He said in testimony prepared for a Senate Banking subcommittee that if Congress "does not take action—positive, direct and immediate action—then we will drag the rest of the economy down to ruin with us."

"Catastrophic"

Levitt, president of William Levitt & Sons, Inc., of Levittown, Pa., described conditions in the housing industry as "catastrophic."

"For almost two years—ever since the administration decided that a little taste of deflation would be good for us—I have seen dry rot take root in our industry," he said.

Saying the industry has not "hit bottom yet," Levitt continued: "The truth is that the plight of my industry is so unimaginably awful, it would be impossible to overstate the case. If anything, I have been too optimistic, like everybody else."

Levitt said a poll of 150 major builders across the country showed that only three or four "had no serious complaints."

Bucks Woman Is Victim On Boulevard

License Number Taken By Lady, Leads To Suspect

A Morrisville man was arrested at his home today on charges of attempting to assault a Lower Bucks woman in Philadelphia early this morning.

The suspect is William G. Heydenreich, 29, of 46 East Trenton Ave., Morrisville. He was released under $1000 bail after a hearing before Magistrate Mason Beifel, Philadelphia.

Police identified the victim as Mrs. Elizabeth Shermer, 24, of Bristol road, Oakford.

Heydenreich was arrested as the result of the license number Mrs. Shermer gave police. She said a man driving the car with the license number had forced her car to the side of the road as she was driving along the Roosevelt Boulevard near Cottman street at 12:15 a.m.

Police said the driver told Mrs. Shermer he was in "Army Intelligence agent" and that he would search her car for smuggled items.

Scared By Screams

Mrs. Shermer told police that the man forced her into the back seat, however, and tried to attack her.

She said she screamed, and the man ran back to his car and drove off.

But Mrs. Shermer had taken down the license number. She reported the incident to members of the Pennypack station of the Fairmount Park Guard.

Police said that they arrested Heydenreich at his home two hours later. They added that he told them he had been drinking in Philadelphia and didn't remember the incident.

Heydenreich is charged with indecent assault, assault and battery, assault with intent to ravish and impersonating an officer.

New Bishop Has Heart Attack

CAMDEN, N.J. (UP)—The Most Rev. Justin Joseph McCarthy, newly-installed Bishop of the Camden Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, was taken to our Lady of Lourdes Hospital here today by ambulance.

He was believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Bishop McCarthy, former Auxiliary Bishop of the Newark Archdiocese, was admitted to the hospital at 10:15 a.m. He was brought by ambulance from his residence in nearby Haddonfield.

Bishop McCarthy, 56, is a native of Sayre, Pa. He was installed as Bishop of Camden on Tuesday.

A Courier & Times First! Inside Juvenile Court

What is the juvenile problem in Bucks County?

How is it handled?

Next week the Courier and Times in a five-part series will give you the answers to both questions. Jim McGonigle, the first and only reporter ever allowed into Bucks County Juvenile Court, has spent months studying every facet of this all-important delinquency problem.

He will give you the facts. He has also delved behind the facts to show the human side of this so human problem.

His stories will outline the top secret machinery set up to handle the girls and boys who stray outside the law.

McGonigle's stories will take you right inside Juvenile Court to watch the boys and girls as they face adult justice.

Read about the boy whose inferiority complex made him commit burglaries. Listen as the judge commits a girl to a farm school.

It starts this Monday.

String Band Fete To Aid Fire Victims

The Greater Bucks County String Band will repeat its Mummer's Parade performance 2 p.m. Sunday to aid a burned out Croydon family.
Frank Weller, captain, said the string band will march and drill in its Mummer's parade costumes, in the vicinity of State Road and Cedar Ave., Sunday afternoon. He explained a collection will be taken to help William Kaelin and his family.
Lost Home
The Kaelins lost their home and most of their possessions in a fire that swept their home, at 1834 Washington St., Feb. 17. Since then, they have been living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kaelin, 1109 Pennsylvania Ave., Croydon.
"This family is bad off and needs help. We feel if we start the ball rolling the people of Croydon will pitch in and help their neighbor get back on his feet," Weller said.

Two Mishaps Within Hour

A 16-year-old Levittown boy was involved in two automobile accidents in Falls Township within the space of an hour yesterday.
In the first accident, Gilbert Marshall, 18 Tanglewood Lane, was charged with reckless driving after hitting the rear of a car driven by John McInerney, 31 Eventide Lane, Levittown. Mr. McInerney is administrative assistant of the Falls Township recreation.
Police officers John Lent and George Dascalakis said Marshall was following the McInerney car west on Emille Road about 3:30 p.m.
Police said Mr. McInerney stopped for a school bus and the Levittown youngster struck his car in the rear.
At 4:25, Marshall was pulling away from the first accident and going west on Emille Road when his car was struck on the left door by William Gardner, New Cumberland, Pa.
Officers William Kershaw, and Elliot Bainbridge said Marshall was trying to make a left turn off Emille Road when he was hit by the New Cumberland driver.
Gardner was charged with illegal passing after this accident.

They broke off the meal early in the evening and adjourned to their own camps to map strategy for today's talks.

Fairless Hills Driver Charged

A Fairless Hills driver was charged with reckless driving yesterday after hitting the rear of a car of a New Brunswick, N.J., man.
Falls Township police officers John Lent and George Dascalakis said Robert Bowen, 421 Chelsea Road, struck the rear of a car driven by William Fox.
Police said Fox was stopped, waiting for a bus to pass, when the Fairless Hills man was unable to stop his car and rammed the rear of the Jersey man's car.
Bowen and his wife, Helen, were slightly injured but refused medical treatment, police said.

Commissioner Candidate

8th Ward Ballot Has Empty Spot

Republicans in Bristol Township's Eighth Ward will have to resort to a "write-in" or "sticker" campaign in the primary election if they are to pick a candidate for township commissioner.
The commissioner spot on the Republican ballot will be blank leaving the field wide open to any hopeful who can get enough people to write his name.
Changes Mind
The situation developed when Members and incorporators of a proposed fire company for Nottingham Village gave their reasons for wanting the company at a hearing yesterday in Bucks County courthouse.
The hearing, which lasted all day, was conducted by Attorney George Kelton, appointed master by the court. It became necessary after the five existing companies in Bensalem township opposed the new company on the grounds that it would be "injurious to the community."
Testimony from men who are in favor of the company took all morning of the day, and consequently, the hearing had to be continued until 10 a.m., April 11, in order to hear the opposition testimony.
Opposing the charter are Edgington Fire Company, which has a sub-station in Nottingham; Newport, Union, Trevose and Cornwells fire companies.

Two Cars Hit On Parkway

Motorists from Trenton, N. J. and Philadelphia, met at the foot of Levittown Parkway when their cars collided at 3 p.m.
Neither was injured in the crash, but the car of Alexander Oberlander, 29, of 8509 Augusta St., Philadelphia, swung completely around and had its entire right side bashed in.
Oberlander, driving north on Route 13, had begun a left turn into the Parkway, according to Tullytown Police Chief John B. Walterick, when he collided with J. J. Zubricky, 30, of 249 Irvington Place, Trenton, driving south on Route 13. The front of Zubricky's car was damaged.
Chief Walterick said neither driver saw the other. No charges were preferred.

Closet Fire In School Being Probed

School, police and fire officials were checking the possibility today that a fire in the storage closet of the Edgewood School in Woodside yesterday was "maliciously set."
William Ingraham, assistant regional superintendent of the Pennsylvania schools, said indications point towards arson because "the fire started with a new mop and definitely wasn't spontaneous."
Leave School
Close to 220 teachers and students were hustled out of the school shortly before noon when the fire was discovered in a closet on the second floor of the two story building.
Mr. Ingraham said the closet is left open and anyone could have access to the room.
Smoke poured from the closet and the students were evacuated in orderly fashion, the assistant superintendent said.
No other damage was reported and no injuries were reported.
Bucks County Fire Marshal Raymond Strunk is investigating the school fire.

Road Route Meeting Held

The Bucks County Planning Commission met yesterday with consulting engineers for the Bucks portion of the Delaware Expressway to further discuss the route of the proposed super strip.
Spokesmen for the Philadelphia engineering firm, Edwards, Kelley and Beck, said, "actually, we're not much more advanced on our planning than we were before."
The route is not set definitely, both parties agreed. "That's why we can't understand how 'condemnation proceedings on properties in the right-of-way' have been reported in process," Planning Commission spokesmen said.
"A job of this size must necessarily move slowly because of the amount of work to be done," commission members said.
The commission and consulting engineers are trying to reach joint agreement on the exact location of the route. The plan must then be presented to the State Department of Highways for approval.
"We haven't reached any agreements, yet," joint spokesmen said.

Chances are, he said, this road would be surfaced in 1958. For the next year at least, maintenance crews will continue "stabilizing" the surface as the state.
The state will also replace two other narrow bridges as part of the program this summer. One bridge, probably the narrowest in the area, is on Tullytown-Fallsington Road near the Thornridge section of Levittown.
The other is on Bristol Oxford Valley Road near Chickentoot. These projects will cost an estimated $23,000 and $23,000, respectively.
The major part of the $2,000,000 program will go towards rebuilding six roads in the area. Work is already started on one project. The others are scheduled to begin soon.

Adams: "See You In Heaven"

Attorneys Will Challenge Dean Of Scotland Yard

LONDON (UP)—A legal source said today defense attorneys will claim one of Scotland Yard's top sleuths was mistaken when he thought he heard Dr. John Bodkin Adams tell his receptionist on his arrest for murder: "I will see you in heaven."
The defense is expected to contend Detective Superintendent Herbert Hannam, "the count" of Scotland Yard, misunderstood the physician's Irish brogue and that Adams actually said: "I will see you at seven."
Bows Deeply
The burly physician bowed deeply to Mr. Justice Devlin when he entered the prisoner's box for the fourth day of his trial for murdering an elderly woman. It is a trick he seems to have picked up from being bawled: among the spectators who always bow to the bench when entering or leaving the Old Bailey courtroom.
Caroline Randall, one of the nurses who attended Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell before she died Nov. 13, 1950, continued her testimony under direct examination from Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller.
Adams is accused of killing Mrs. Morrell with an overdose of narcotics to get a bequest in her will.

Seeing Levittown
By LEE GARB
A portrait of a woman, likely the subject of the article.

I wondered how many days I'd be on the job before someone reported a new organization in our active life community. . . . because this column must have announced the birth of over 200 of them at one point or another. Well, we're happy to congratulate the new LaSalle College Alumni Association here. The Levittown Club of the Association will encompass Mercer County, Trenton and all of the Lower Bucks area as well. Nice broad scope, fellows!

Dick and Joyce Maffei, whom most Levittowners will remember as exceptionally active people in this community for over three years have pulled a switch . . . after living in Levittown as that relative rarity, a childless couple, the Maffeis (moved away and had a baby! We can just see Joyce attending meetings with the new Maffei being toted papoose-fashion.)

One of the most popular young couples on Nasturtium Lane, North Park Jubilee section, is Donald and Daisy Duck. They arrived as tiny yellow puffs one Easter and have grown to a very socially-conscious maturity, attending patio parties (uninvited, but welcome) and coffee klatches, etc. We understand that Daisy has a nest in Mr. and Mrs. Fran Hickey's garden which now contains six eggs. The payoff is that the Hickey's cat, who is also an expectant mother, takes turns "baby sitting" with Daisy. . . . whether you see a duck or a cat perched on the nest depends entirely upon Daisy's social schedule!

Started In California
"Science Scouting is a new idea with only a few groups in existence," explains Mr. Goldberg. "It was started in California by engineers to interest high-school-age boys in science careers."
George R. Carmichael, Jr., of 28 Jasmine Road, Juniper Hill section and Francis R. Schmidt of 27 Summer Lane, Stonybrook are among those who have been exploring the possibilities of the new group.
Mr. Schmidt, a mechanical engineer; and Mr. Carmichael, who teaches science at the Ben Franklin Jr. High School and Mr. Goldberg have studied the projects included in the work of the first group in Van Nuys, California.

Projects Included
The projects included geology, nuclear science, astronomy and astrophysics, math, physics, chemistry and many other fields.
Mr. Willard Ross, 22 Teaberry Lane, Thornridge, District Scout Executive, has expressed his interest in the idea as a program which "could successfully coordinate the three basic principles of Scouting: the social, the outdoors and the service aspects with an interest in science."
"Although this is as yet comparatively unproven, we feel it is an idea definitely worth developing," he added.
The present need is for adults who can contribute to such activities and are interested in working to organize the group and plan its program. Anyone wishing to do so is asked to contact Mr. Goldberg at WI 6-7446.

Levitt Says

plies reporting conditions to be bad.
The Pennsylvania builder recommended four immediate steps to loosen money for the housing and home building industry:
"Make the interest rates realistic and competitive." He said "raising the allowable rate to a maximum of six per cent should free enough funds to meet our present need."
Lower down payments for home buyers.
Elimination of the present one-half per cent Federal Housing Administration insurance premium.
He said the present charge is "excessive and unfair" because it produces far more revenue than is needed to pay insurance losses. Extending the mortgage term on federally-insured mortgages from 30 to 35 years.
He said that such a program would enable builders to provide homes "the nation wants and needs."
"We are not now, we never have been, and we will not for a long time be even close to that mythical saturation point in housing that certain self-anointed experts keep talking about."

The builder said he was not testifying as "a plea for pity." But he said unless the "present situation" is corrected "our collapse will be everybody's problem."
George S. Goodyear, president of the National Association of Home Builders, also warned that the housing crisis threatens the entire national economy.
Goodyear, a Charlotte, N. C. builder, urged that the interstate rate on so-called GI loans be placed at five per cent to bring it even with the current FHA rate. He said FHA down payments should be "modernized and reduced" so more people can buy homes "on terms they can afford."
Frank P. Flynn Jr., of Lafayette la., rep. sending the pre-fabricated Home Manufacturers' Institute, also recommended that the GI interest rate be hiked to five per cent.

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD

Mideast Status In Balance As Dag, Nasser Open Talks

By UNITED PRESS
UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today began five days of crucial talks in Cairo that may determine the fate of the Suez Canal and the question of war or peace in the Middle East.
Even as he conferred with President Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Egyptian officials a new crisis struck. Syria was in political turmoil with the army purging pro-Soviet strongman Col. Abdel Hamid Stragman, one of the nation's three dictators.
Western diplomatic sources in Cairo were pessimistic over Hammarskjold's chances of success and said the canal situation was right back where it was last October when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt.
Israeli Predict Failure
Israeli officials in Jerusalem predicted failure of the Hammarskjold mission and said Hammarskjold could not get Nasser to renounce Egypt's state of belligerency with Israel. And unless he renounces belligerence there can be no more compromise with Israel's security, the sources said.
Western diplomats said Nasser's proposals on the canal were as far as ever from Western demands for internalization checks on canal operation and demands for 50 per cent of the tolls to go into an international bank.

It was the same deadlock that touched off the Tripartite invasion last October.
Hammarskjold also is in search of measures to seal the borders between Israel and Egypt, to solve the crisis over Gaza and over shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba. Egypt and Saudi Arabia have declared the gulf closed to Israeli shipping: Israel says it will fight if its ships are hindered.
Ben-Gurion Fears War
Nasser already had won a major victory over the Gaza question. His civil administrators were back in the strip despite earlier Israeli warnings.
Diplomatic sources said Hammarskjold's efforts to set up a buffer zone between Israel and Egypt might break down over Israeli proposals on the canal were as far

Move Studied On Changing Mail Delivery

The Post Office Department is considering changes in the mail delivery system in parts of Yardley, parts of Morrisville and Woodside.

Congressman Willard S. Curtin (R. Bucks Lehigh) has notified Fred Ziegler, Republican Bucks County chairman, that such a move is being studied.

Contract Station
The plan would consider changing the Woodside office to a contract station under the Morrisville office. The Yardley office would retain its identity but be under the administration of the Morrisville Post Office.

All residents of Yardley now receiving door-to-door delivery would continue to do so under the new setup. In addition 50 families, not receiving delivery, would receive curb delivery. If circumstances warrant, consideration would be given to changing them to door-to-door delivery.

21 Additional Families
Rural Route No. 1 out of Morrisville would become part of the city delivery and provide 21 additional Morrisville families with city delivery service.

Under the new plan, the Woodside Post Office would continue to provide the same service as a regular Post Office.

Ziegler stated that Congressman Curtin has met with a number of residents of the area to obtain their ideas on the consolidation.

Congressman Curtin said that anyone interested in the changes should contact him either at his Washington or Morrisville office.

Congressman Curtin can be reached at 1038 House Office Building, Washington, D.C., or at his Morrisville office, 101 North Pennsylvania Avenue.

Lions Slate Trenton Visit

The Yardley-Makefield Lions Club will visit the Ternstedt Division of General Motors in Trenton at the club's next regular meeting night Tuesday.

Secretary John Elder said the group will be taken on a guided tour of the plant by company officials.

The Trenton concern manufactures parts used in General Motors cars and trucks.

At last week's meeting, the Lions visited a fellow club in Feasterville.

The Yardley-Makefield club members were guests of the West Bucks Lions Club at a meeting at the Buck Hotel in Feasterville.

Secretary Elder said the meeting was attended by 22 members of the Yardley Lions and the combined group listened to a Philadelphia industry representative speak on the role of the aging worker in industry.

Bloom Raps State Outlay

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom today reiterated his party's intention to hold the line against new taxes in Pennsylvania and rapped the administration of Gov. George M. Leader for "wasteful and extravagant" spending.

Bloom, in a letter mailed to all newspapers in the state, outlined the GOP position on what he said was a "battle between two forces" in the Republican-controlled Legislature and the Democratic state administration.

"Pitted against one another will be those who advocate spending plans which will make added taxation necessary, and those who are pledged to hold the line on taxes," he said. "The outcome will affect every family in Pennsylvania. The conflict in Harrisburg stems directly from a difference of opinion as to how much we should spend."

Bloom said the governor's proposed $1.6-billion General Fund outlay would require new taxes, but the GOP program of $1.5-billion could be raised through existing taxes, with a $250,000,000 higher yield than previously, and reflected in bills now moving through the Legislature.

Teachers Pay On Boro Agenda

The request for a salary increase by Bristol borough teachers is expected to be considered by the borough school board tonight at a special meeting in the Warren Snyder elementary school at 7:30 o'clock.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS

Morrisville's Rotary Club will meet tonight in the group's regular weekly meeting at Pennsbury Inn starting at 6:15 p.m. Secretary James H. Wood said about 70 members of the club are expected to attend.

Teachers, Pupils Prepare For Trips

Teachers of the Morrisville schools and students of Morrisville High school will "hit the road" for a big tour of New York and Washington, D.C. tomorrow and Monday.

Tomorrow all teachers, led by school will journey to New York City for an in-service training program. Classes will be suspended for the day.

A group of 61 teachers, led by James E. Wood, program chairman of the Morrisville Teachers Association, will leave from in front of the high school at 8 a.m. for the New York hop.

In the morning the teachers will attend sessions of the United Nations at its East River location.

The afternoon will be spent on a guided tour of the building and the facilities of the U.N., a visit to the French liner, S.S. Flandre docked in New York, and a tour of a TV studio in rehearsal for Omnibus.

In the evening the teachers will visit Broadway to catch two hit shows. One group will watch "No Time For Sergeants" and the other section will see "Damn Yankees."

The senior class of 61 students will journey to Washington Monday for a three-day stay. The group will take in all the big sites of Washington including the Capitol, Congress, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the National Cathedral, the Smithsonian Institute and the National Zoo.

On Tuesday, the class will have Congressman and Mrs. Willard S. Curtin as guests for dinner at the Roger Smith Hotel.

The group will place a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier when it visits Arlington National Cemetery.

Chaperones for the affair include Helen Brunner, Marjorie Jones, Alex McDonald, Frank Torok, and James E. Wood.

Boro Council Again Faces Budget Task

Morrisville's Borough Council will attempt to get the borough's financial problems solved tomorrow at a special council session.

Mayor William Burgess threw a monkey wrench in to the borough's financial timetable when he vetoed a one mill tax cut claiming the Democrats had put the small slash in as a "political move."

Council had passed a $310,000 budget and a one mill cut in the tax rate to 20 mills at a previous session.

Faced With Task

Council will now have the problem of setting the tax rate and if necessary revising the budget.

The budget, which only awaited the Mayor's signature before being submitted to Harrisburg, was prepared in the light of the expected 20 mill rate.

Last year's rate was 21 mills.

Beaten Down

Republican Councilman Neal Nolan proposed a three-mill cut at Tuesday's meeting but that was beaten down on strict party lines.

If a new rate is set with any drastic change, the entire budget may take revamping before it can be forwarded to the State.

Council also has a problem of a time element facing it. The deadline for filing the budget is March 31 but can sometimes be extended in case of emergency.

Tax Situation

It was indicated the tax situation in the borough can be thrown into great confusion unless council agrees on a rate.

Tax collection usually begins in June but if council lags on approving the budget, this date may have to be pushed back.

Council President Nicholas Mislan will call the meeting to order at 8 p.m. at the Borough Hall on Washington Street.

Olympians Get Czech Blessing

LONDON (UP)—Communist Czechoslovakia gave its blessing today for American Olympic star Harold Connolly to wed pretty Olga Fikotova, the Czech discus champion he met and wooed at the Melbourne Olympics.

The U.S. Embassy in Prague reported by telephone that Connolly got the news of official permission after a hurried flight across the Iron Curtain to his fiancée's side. He had been waiting in Vienna for the Czechs to act on a personal appeal to Czech President Antonin Zapotocky.

The embassy said Connolly will marry slim, brown-eyed, 24-year-old Olga in Prague next Wednesday and probably fly home to Boston the same night.

Club Works On Bake Sale

Members of the Senior High Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church of Morrisville are busy learning all sorts of old fashioned cake recipes.

The group will sell their baked products at a sale April 6, in the Acme store in the Morrisville Shopping Center and in the church parlor.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to purchase furniture for the Senior High room of the Educational Building of the church.

It is the plan of the church to turn this room into a lounge for young people. Once completed the room will be open to all groups who wish to use it.

Persons wishing to aid in the project may contact officials of the church for further information.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at 771 North Pennsylvania Avenue in Morrisville.

Scout Troop Sets Annual Banquet

Boy Scouts of Troop 3, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Morrisville, are all set for the group's annual banquet April 1.

The affair will start at 6:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Tickets for $1 may be obtained at the church or from any member of the Boy Scouts.
